Charge Spanish Militiamen
Invaded the Country;
Tell of Looting

LISBON, Aug. 15—(INS)—Portugal's dictatorship hurled dynamite into the international situation today with a threat of intervention in Spain coupled with a protest demanding reparations for a violation of Portuguese territory.

Simultaneously in a note to Paris the government strongly condemned the radical "reign of terror" in Spain, and expressed determination to retain Portugal's freedom to act even though the proposed neutrality pact be signed.

Charging that thirty Spanish government militiamen invaded Portugal and looted the house of a Portuguese citizen, the Lisbon government ordered its charge d'affaires at Madrid to protest "in terms of the greatest force."

Three Spanish refugees were wounded in the raid, Portugal alleged, and one refugee was kidnapped and taken back into Spain.

MADRID, Aug. 15—Rebel troops today shot their way into Badajoz, last westward stronghold of the Loyalists, and swept through four towns east of Gibraltar, on the offensive against Malaga today, filling riot-torn Madrid with fears of an early collapse.

After another night of street shooting in spite of the rigidly enforced curfew law, Eric C. Wendlin, charge d'affaires of the United States embassy here, today received authority from Washington to close the embassy, housing sixty-five Americans, "if it is warranted."

As refugees fled across the Portugal border by the thousands, nineteen bombs of fire were sent from Rebel planes. Scores were reported to be slain, many of the victims being women and children.

General Francisco Franco's eastern column hammered toward Esteponia in the Malaga offensive, capturing Guadario, Teorillo, Sabamillas and San Enrique, showing that the army is moving over a wide area.

Hosiery Mill, Eddington,
Is Now Being Picketed

EDDINGTON, Aug. 15—More than 100 hosiery workers of hosiery mills in this section assembled today in front of the Gray Line hosiery mill on Street road in a demonstration, which, according to Walter Bramley, manager of district 4 of the American Federation of Hosiery Workers, was planned to oppose the recent wage-cut claimed received by employees of the Gray Line mill. Bramley stated that the picketing will continue until an adjustment has been reached.

Mr. Gray, chief owner of the Gray Line mill, issued a statement saying: "There is no discussion in this mill. Everybody is satisfied, and we plan to continue on the present scale."

Death Ends Long Quarrel

Philadelphia, Aug. 15—As the climax of a bitter month-old quarrel, John Penecale, 28, today was shot and killed as he stood before the bar of a tap room across the street from his home.

The roar of a shot gun, discharged from the door of the establishment, sent a bullet into Penecale's back.

Five men and women witnesses of the event said Frank Rasselso, 63, fled from the door a moment later.

Arrested at his home, Rasselso was charged with shooting, and was held for a hearing.

Police learned that Penecale had struck Rasselso in an argument several days ago.

ALL MURDER WARRANTS,
40 YEARS, BY E. LYNNLocal Justice States He Is Only
Bristol Justice Issuing
Such in That Period

NONE FROM 1896 TO 1923

Edward Lynn, one of Bristol's justices of the peace, claims the distinction of being the only justice in Bristol who during the past 40 years has issued any murder warrants.

Justice Lynn states that there were no such warrants issued from a period 40 years ago until 1923, or four years after he became justice, and he gives the total issued by him since then as 12.

Three of the dozen warrants on charges of murder were for women, and nine for men. The record of the 12 reads as follows: In the death of John Tilotta, one electrocuted, two sentenced to life imprisonment, and three never apprehended. In the case of a murdered gangster, whose bullet-riddled body was tossed from an automobile at Eddington about 12 years ago, the four men for whom warrants were issued were killed in gang feuds within a period of eight weeks; in the case of Joseph DeLissio, the woman charged with murder was acquitted in the Bucks County courts; and one case, that of Mrs. Louise Bell, charged with the murder of Jesse Jones, here, on July 4th, is pending.

In connection with the Tilotta case, Mr. Lynn received word some time ago that one of the men for whom a warrant was issued, and who had not been apprehended in connection with this case, was serving a sentence in Sing Sing Prison, New York. When one of the men serving life sentence in the same case was confronted with the picture of the Sing Sing prisoner, he is said to have disclaimed any knowledge of him.

The murder of the gangster left lying along the highway at Eddington, some years ago, states justice Lynn, was the outgrowth of a holdup of a paymaster in South Amboy, N. J., in which $8600 was secured by a quintet, who made a get-away. It is presumed that a quarrel ensued as the five passed through this state, and the result evidently was that the one member of the party was shot in the back, five bullets riddling him. The next heard of the four remaining was in connection with their deaths by feudal warfare.

According to Mr. Lynn, the late Squire Frederick I. Kraft was not called upon to issue any warrants for murder.

Truck Overtakes On Pike;
Traffic Greatly Delayed

Traffic was delayed for about a half hour on Bristol Pike yesterday afternoon when a large truck, loaded with stone, overturned about 200 yards west of the footpath over the railroad at Maynes Lane, Croydon. The driver escaped with a slight bruise of the elbow.

According to the driver and owner, Pietro Ferelesi, 1219 Princeton avenue, Trenton, N. J., he was forced from the road by a large tractor-trailer type truck when it swung in too close to his truck while passing. At the spot where the accident occurred the shoulder of the Pike is lower than the concrete surface, and when Ferelesi attempted to swing his truck back on the road it is believed that the rear wheel caught on this ridge, thus causing it to overturn.

Little damage was done to the truck, and after the stone was removed a local firm's towing truck righted the vehicle. Patrolman Hand, of the South Langhorne barracks, investigated the accident.

U. S. Swimmers Sweep On

Berlin, Germany, Aug. 15—Giving America a clean sweep of gold medals in Olympic diving events, and showing her supremacy in this branch of sports, the United States today made a little slam in the finals.

Marshall Wayne, of Miami, Florida, captured the gold medal, and Elbert Root, of Detroit, Michigan, the second little slam of the Olympics. The United States scored grand slams in the men's and women's springboard contests, and came through with a little slam in the women's high dive.

18 In Truck Killed By Train

Louisville, Que., Aug. 15—Eighteen men were killed and 14 others injured, many seriously, early today when a truck, carrying them home from a political meeting, was demolished by a fast freight train at a level and unguarded grade crossing five miles from here.

Five occupants of the truck, which carried 37 men instilled with political enthusiasm, escaped by jumping from the vehicle just before the Quebec-to-Montreal Canadian Pacific freight train smashed it to splinters. Seventeen persons died outright while the eighteenth succumbed to serious injuries three hours later at a Three Rivers, Que., hospital.

Today's tragedy, occurring about three a. m., was the second such incident in the current Quebec provincial political campaign for next Monday's election. Late last month three persons met death and three others were injured seriously when a truck, loaded with political rosters, overran a sharp curve near St. Ann Des Monts.

Most of the today's victims, all of whom were French-Canadians, were from Louisville and the immediate vicinity.

Some Additions

THREE ON COMMITTEE

The Borough schools are rapidly being cleaned and generally repaired for the opening in September, according to a report of the Buildings Committee. Painting, cleaning, and new additions are being placed in the different schools.

At the Bath street school all stair treads are being renewed and a new floor on the first floor hallway has been planned.

The Washington street school also has a new floor in the hallway and general painting has been completed. The blackboards in this school are being refinished.

Two new rooms are being equipped at the Jefferson avenue school for the special classes of students that will be cared for here. Both of these rooms are in line with the State specifications.

At the Harriman school a new eight-foot fence is being put up around the athletic field and the old fence will be used in surrounding the Harriman High School buildings, and part of the fence will be used around the Beaver street school.

At the Wood street school, as well as the Beaver street school, minor repairs are being made and a general overhauling has been made.

The Buildings committee reports that all schools will be in fine shape for the opening. George Molden and Arthur Brady, members of the committee, have been working continuously in an effort to have everything in good shape. Stanford Runyan, the third member of the committee, has also been aiding in the development of the plans.

HOW FAR HAVE WE GONE?

(New York American, August 4, 1936)

Americans cannot view the tragic events in Europe without wondering HOW FAR THEY HAVE GONE ALONG THE SAME ROAD.

The Atlantic Ocean is not wide enough to conceal from American view the RED CLOUDS hovering above the troubled horizons of France and Spain.

Our people instinctively reject the thought that we are capable of abandoning the peaceful pursuit of the ideals that have made us a happy and progressive nation.

And yet America must reflect soberly upon the evidence of its own trend toward the disasters that have involved these distressed countries.

How capable are our leaders of foreseeing these dangers—AND OF FORESTALLING THEM?

America cannot forget the words of Donald R. Richberg who, as general counsel for the National Recovery Administration, said:

"The long-discussed revolution is actually under way in the United States. IT IS HERE."

The nation again recalls the words of Rexford Guy Tugwell, Undersecretary of Agriculture, who said:

"The autocrats must get out of the way with the moral system that supports them. We shall have to recognize our enemies and go forward with closed ranks. IT WILL NOT BE PLEASANT. These historical changes never are."

The nation, with an anxious eye upon the future, now looks for the hidden meaning in the portentous words of James A. Farley, Democratic national chairman, who said:

"MR. ROOSEVELT WILL NOT ALLOW HIMSELF TO BE DEFEATED."

Does this phrase imply the COMPULSION OF A DICTATORSHIP?

If it does, all that is needed now is a firm alliance with France and Spain, AND THE DICTATORSHIP WILL BE COMPLETE.

YARDLEY NONGENIARIES
TO MARK ANNIVERSARIESMrs. Lucinda Gervin Will Be 90 Years Old Tomorrow;
L. Lynn 91 on Monday

ARE CONGRATULATED

YARDLEY, Aug. 15—Two of Yardley's oldest residents will observe their birthday anniversaries over this weekend. Mrs. Lucinda Gervin, North Delaware avenue, will observe her 90th anniversary tomorrow, while Lewis Lynn, South Main street, will celebrate his 91st birthday on Monday.

Mrs. Gervin, who was born in Langhorne, is the widow of William Gervin, who died 26 years ago. Mrs. Gervin spent a number of years as a resident of Overbrook avenue, Trenton, is now with her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Elizabeth Gervin, of North Delaware avenue. Enjoying good health, Mrs. Gervin has as her pastime sewing, and makes all of her own clothes. Regardless of the fact that she was but a small girl she can recall many events of the Civil War.

Mr. Lynn, the son of Alexander and Ann Lynn was born in Fallsington in 1846, one of nine children. He came to Yardley in 1871, and was one of the organizers of the Borough Council, serving as a member of the first session. Mr. Lynn was present at the running of the first steam train on the Reading Railroad, and rode on the first trolley to pass through the town. With two brothers in the service of the Civil War, Mr. Lynn clearly recalls many events of that period, and is consulted frequently by historians and county officials regarding the events of the previous periods.

Until 24 years ago Mr. Lynn con-

FAST LAND PLANES MAY

SEA IS TOO ROUGH

By Richard Haller
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
HONOLULU, T. H., Aug. 15—(INS)—Fast land planes, rather than heavier, slower seaplanes likely will be used in America's newest oceanic air route—between here and the Antipodes, approximately 5,000 miles over water.

The route is a vanguard of commercial aviation linking America and the Antipodes, as the present air route of Pan American Airways links America and the Orient.

New development in the air venture were announced by William T. Miller, superintendent of airways, U. S. Department of Commerce, before departing from here at the head of another expedition to the tiny mid-Pacific islands of Baker, Howland and Jarvis, which were colonized a year ago by a handful of Americans and formally annexed by joint resolution of Congress on June 22.

While Miller declined to state officially that land planes will be used for the long over-water flights, he told of three influencing factors in the question of land versus seaplanes for the route:

First, the water surrounding the islands is too rough for seaplanes to make a safe landing and tie up for refueling and inspection; second, the islands already have landing areas

CHURCH GETS BEQUEST

DOYLESTOWN, Aug. 15—An estate listed at $60,000 personal property and $5500 real estate left by Helen C. Stockton, who died at her home in New Hope, Bucks county, on July 21, is divided among relatives, servants and friends and the New Hope Methodist Church.

The Stockton will probated at the office of the Register of Wills of Bucks County, was dated May 24, 1933. Miss Stockton was a daughter of the late Joseph P. and Mary R. Stockton. She was well known in New Hope where she resided most of her life.

The New Hope Methodist Church is bequeathed $4,000, together with the Stockton residence on Ferry street, New Hope. This gift is made on condition that the trustees of the church expend annually a sufficient amount of money to keep two burial lots of the late Miss Stockton in condition, and the balance of the income to be used for the general welfare of the church.

A property adjoining the Stockton residence on Ferry street is bequeathed to a cousin, Martha M. Moffett, of Philadelphia, who also will receive an outright legacy of $7,000 and one-half of the remainder of the estate after numerous legacies are paid.

Lida S. Peaker, colored maid, who lived at the Stockton home for a number of years, was bequeathed $7,000 in appreciation of her faithful service and kindnesses.

Other legacies are as follows: $6,000 to a cousin, Mary S. Luxion or her daughters, Helen Stockton Marsh and Anna Stockton Luxion, equally; should she predecease Miss Stockton; $4,000 to a cousin, Elizabeth Kaine Moore, who is now in Rome, Italy; $5,000 to a cousin, Helen Stockton Coyle, of Trenton, N. Airy; $1,000 to a friend and neighbor, Mary B. Carlen, of New Hope; $1,000 to a friend, Allyn E. Slack (now deceased); $1,000 to a friend, Sarah E. Silvers, Lambertville; $1,000 to a cousin, Hannah Mary Savidge, of Allentown, N. J.

One-half of the remainder of the estate is bequeathed to Mary S. Luxion, should she survive, otherwise it is bequeathed to her daughters, Helen Stockton Marsh and Anna Stockton Luxion, and the other half to Martha M. Moffett, a cousin, of Philadelphia.

All the furniture, household goods, clothing, jewelry and personal belongings, "to avoid any sales," the will directs, shall be given to the executor of the estate, Charles Colley, of New Hope, for him to dispose of as he sees fit. A memorandum included in the will suggests that the executor give the personal belongings to certain people but states that "whatever disposition he ultimately makes shall be final and conclusive."

LIGHTNING STRIKES
BARN, 3 HOUSES IN LOWER BUCKS CO.Barn at Wrightstown, With Contents of Grain and Machinery Destroyed

FARM-HAND IS STUNNED

Houses at South Langhorne,
Langhorne, Newtown, Also Slightly Damaged

Three dwellings and one barn were targets of lightning in lower Bucks County within a period of three hours last evening. One man was stunned by a bolt.

One of the fires, causing loss of a large barn and contents, at Wrightstown, totalled a loss of approximately $4,500; while in the other three fires damage was slight in each instance.

The first blaze, caused by a bolt from the sky, was at the barn of Stephen Fisher, Wrightstown. Lightning struck at about 4.30, and a farm-hand engaged in white-washing a portion of the interior of the structure, was stunned. Members of the Fisher family were unaware of the fire until neighbors rushed to the place. The employee was found in a prone position in the barn, and was hurriedly taken to a place of safety and a physician called. The man was slightly burned, but is reported as recovering nicely.

Newtown and Wycombe fire companies answered the alarm, and were instrumental in saving the numerous out-buildings. Hay and grain recently stored in the barn were destroyed with the structure, as was also some machinery. No cattle was housed there.

At Langhorne the residence of Grant Umberger, Richardson avenue, was struck by lightning at seven p. m. The fire started in the peak of the roof of the brick structure. Damage was estimated at $75. Langhorne and South Langhorne companies were called.

The home of Frank Dalarna, Lincoln Highway, South Langhorne, was also the target of lightning, the chimney being struck at 7.30. A portion of the attic was harmed by the blaze. South Langhorne and Langhorne firemen found it necessary to tear up some of the boards to fight the flames, but soon had them extinguished. Loss is estimated at $50.

The fourth fire of the day in lower Bucks County, was at the residence of John Tasey, Sycamore avenue, Newtown. At seven o'clock last evening the cornice of the house was struck. Mr. Tasey's two sons extinguished the fire with a garden hose. Newtown fire company was summoned also. The damage is believed not to exceed $25.

THE MISTAKES WE MAKE

There is an old hymn that reads, "The mistakes of my life have been many." That point of view is not too popular now. But many people are blaming their troubles on their luck, or the errors of the government and the social system, who simply have condemned themselves to bad fortune by their mistakes.

Many younger people condemned themselves to lives of difficulty by their hasty rush to get married before they were ready to take on family burdens. In their hurry they often picked the wrong mate, and a long procession of troubles followed. Or having married before they had any savings, they were soon deep in debt.

Many of these supposedly unlucky folks have squandered their money on foolish vices. The money they threw away in prosperous times would have pulled them through the depression.

Many of them never worked in any intelligent or industrious way. They were just pay drawers, folks whose thought was only on their pay envelope and quitting time. They never made any effort to show special intelligence, alertness, and skill. If they had tried to make themselves specially useful, they might have kept the jobs they lost.

At every turn in the lives of millions of people, you find some wrong choice. They went with bad companions when they should have been getting information or enjoying clean sports. They sought continuous high jinks, and never considered self improvement.

Everyone makes some mistakes, but people have plenty of time in which to plan their lives. When they deliberately cast aside some useful habit and attitude, they make these mistakes which spot a person for life as a failure.

UNIFORM ARM SIGNALS

One of the oil companies is performing a valuable public service by printing with its advertising a chart of the standard arm signals approved by the Fourth National Conference on Street and Highway Safety.

A greater use of arm signals in driving undoubtedly would contribute much to safety. In almost any traffic situation a fore-knowledge of what the driver ahead plans to do is an aid to safe driving, unannounced turns and sudden stops being a frequent cause of accidents. In the same way arm signals may be helpful to pedestrians and they have, finally, the additional value that their universal use would serve to indicate in some drivers a needed awareness that other cars are on the street and must be taken account of in any maneuver attempted.

The standard arm signals above referred to have the merit that they are "natural" and readily distinguishable one from another and they are, moreover, the ones already most widely in use. They are as follows:

In stopping or slowing down the arm is extended outward and downward at an angle of 45 degrees.

In left turning the arm is extended straight out to the side, horizontally.

In right turning the arm is extended outward and upward at about a 45-degree angle.

We hear nothing of a Spanish team at the Olympics. Maybe this is Spain's summer for intramural sport.

that could be used in an emergency in their present condition; and third, the federal government within three months will send tractor and grading equipment to level the areas and prepare them for landing fields.

"I would not hesitate to land a plane on any of the three islands," Miller said. "The possible landing fields are a good mile long, facing directly into the prevailing winds, and are sufficiently wide for all purposes."

"So far as seaplanes basing there, one important factor must be considered. Along the Pan American route from Honolulu to Manila the planes are able to land and take off in sheltered lagoons, forming a natural landing area when the coral heads are blasted out. This is true particularly on Midway and Wake. But unlike those two islands, Baker, Jarvis and Howland have no lagoons whatsoever. The sea beats directly upon the shore, the surf booming and piling up at some seasons of the year until a landing even by boat is dangerous."

Miller left here aboard the U. S. coastguard cutter Itasca with Richard B. Black, field representative of the Department of the Interior, and eight schoolboys of Hawaii to replace boys who have been colonizing the three dot islands for several months.

The Hawaiian youths were selected for the arduous, lonely jobs because of their ability to lead healthy lives in tropical conditions and because their American citizenship would make the project strictly national.

When the full story of this colonization is eventually told, these American schoolboys of Honolulu will likely take a place in the chronicle of American migration westward.

The islands popped into international prominence a year ago when it was revealed the federal government had secretly established colonies there and had taken formal possession in the name of the United States. Permanent development of them is now planned. They were recently placed under the jurisdiction of the division of territories and island possessions of the Department of the Interior.

Actively interested in the events of the community, Mr. Lynn keeps in constant contact with people of the borough, on his daily tours of the town, while the national events are supplied by the papers, which he cleverly reads without the aid of glasses.

Mr. Lynn stresses the fact regarding the advancement in education, stating that he would enjoy living in this period of specialized schools. His keen sense of humor has made him a well-loved citizen of the community, and he states that he wouldn't have to be coaxed to take a ride in an aeroplane. He resides with his daughter, Mrs. D. ### 42 PORTRAITS ON STAMP

BUDAPEST — (INS) — Peter Illes, a native of Salgotarjan, Hungary, has created a record of some sort in miniature draughtsmanship. In a square equaling the size of an ordinary Hungarian postage stamp he drew 42 highly artistic colored portraits of distinguished personalities, such as Prince Arpad of Hungary, Pope Pius XI, the Emperor Francis Joseph, Admiral Horthy, Queen Zita, Lord Baden-Powell, President Roosevelt, and Senator Borah.

Motorized Units and Highway Posts Give Red Cross First Aid to Injured

ABOVE RIGHT: Trained personnel of Red Cross highway first aid stations know what to do when an emergency arises. A quick call for ambulance or doctor is made possible by an up-to-date list of nearby hospitals and physicians.

LEFT: Many Red Cross highway first aid posts are established at rural fire stations, whose trucks serve as mobile first aid units when a crash occurs some distance from the station.

THE Red Cross has forged a new link in its chain of highway first aid stations established to bring immediate emergency care to roadside crash victims.

Thirty-two Delaware state highway maintenance trucks comprise the first unit of the Red Cross motorized highway patrol, organized to complement the organization's emergency highway first aid stations. It is planned to equip and give first aid training to crews of several thousand trucks of state highway and public utility groups, since these vehicles are constantly on duty on the nation's traffic arteries. Numerous groups in a number of states are now prepared to launch similar highway patrols under Red Cross jurisdiction, and the highway police of eight states have finished Red Cross first aid training and will soon augment these mobile units.

National Safety Council figures show that last year motor accidents claimed 37,000 lives. This appalling total would have been less if more of the victims had received emergency treatment at the scene of accident while the doctor was on the way.

The American Red Cross dedicates its first aid posts and mobile units to the motorist of today and tomorrow who may be injured at a point where medical attention can not be immediately secured.

TIMELY HINTS GIVEN FOR KEEPING COOL DURING HOT WEATHER

By Rhondana A. Armstrong
(Home Economics Representative)

The first requisite for being cool and collected is a simplified schedule of grooming and dressing.

dressers are first choice for warm weather. They may be inexpensive, so have several and keep them fresh and crisp. Pleated skirts are lively, but do not add to ease of laundering in hot weather. Choose designs with the ease of ironing in mind.

Arrange the hair simply. It will add to your comfort if you arrange it off the face as much as possible. Keep it immaculately clean by shampooing it each week or two. Now is the time you can dry it in the sun.

A daily cleansing bath with warm water and soap is essential to one's comfort and good grooming. A cool shower or sponge bath is refreshing and doubly so if followed with witch hazel or toilet water. There are many good deodorants and non-perspirants which are inexpensive and add much to hot weather comfort.

The face should be washed with warm soapy water or cleansed with cold cream before applying powder. Apply powder lightly.

Nails filed rather short to a neat oval will look well, even through the trials of jelly making. Lemon, tomato, or rhubarb juice will remove stains.

At no time of the year do we need to give more thought to foot comfort. No one can look cool and crisp if suffering from tired, aching feet. Much of this discomfort can be eliminated by giving more thought to footwear. No article of clothing is more important. Try to get well-fitting shoes and hose. If your feet are hard to fit and you have finally found a satisfactory last, stick to that last.

A frequent change of shoes and hose adds to foot comfort. Never put on hose a second time without washing. They are easily washed in lukewarm soap suds. Use a mild soap always and rinse them thoroughly. Hang them up carefully. Mend them before putting them away, and save yourself the annoyance of finding you have no hose ready to put on.

Sandals are cool, but too often give insufficient support to the foot. Low, rigid or moderately low, broad heels are the kind to choose for much walking or in working either outdoors or about the house.

Patent leathers, so popular this season, are likely to make the feet burn because the finish interferes with ventilation. Perforated shoes add much to foot comfort.

A cool footbath and a rub with witch hazel or alcohol will do much to relieve hot, tired feet.

ALLENTOWN — (INS) — A replica of the oldest house in the county will be erected as a memorial museum to the late Gen. Harry C. Trexler on the Trexler-Lehigh County Game Preserve, officials of the Preserve Commission here decided. Trexler willed the 1,100 acre game preserve to the county.

The model for the memorial which was built in 1774 still stands near the Jordan Creek here. It was at first planned to remove the original house to the preserve, but its dilapidated condition prevented this. The plans for the replica which have already been made follow exactly the exterior design of the original house and it will be furnished to conform with the vogue at the time the original was built.

PITTSBURGH — (INS) — Hundreds of engineers from about 50 countries will visit Pittsburgh within the next few weeks to inspect utilities, manufacturing plants and laboratories in this district preliminary to attending the third World Power Conference, to be held in Washington September 7 to 12.

Held for the purpose of providing an international forum for the exchange of ideas, the conference comes to the United States this year for the first time. It is expected that as the focal point of industrial activity in this country, Pittsburgh will receive more attention from the visitors than any other American city.

Several tours have been arranged for the newcomers here, the first of which has been scheduled for August 31. This tour will take the visitors on an inspection of the city's power and hydraulic achievements, including the famed hydraulic laboratory at the Carnegie Institute of Technology. A coal mine inspection has also been arranged, as have tours of all the principal manufacturing in the Pittsburgh area.

CHESTER — (INS) — A correspondence friendship begun 16 years ago by Mrs. Oscar Gray when she was a high school French student with a student in a school in France was culminated here recently.

Mrs. Gray's French teacher arranged for her to correspond with Mlle. Georgette Fernandez who was then a student in a French high school studying English. Mlle. Fernandez arrived in this country recently and visited Mrs. Gray.

LANDRETH'S SCHEDULES FIVE GAMES IN 5 DAYS

Starting today the Landreth Seeds are scheduled to play five games in as many days.

Today they are playing Margate City at Atlantic City, N. J., at six p. m. Sunday, two games will be played with Pleasantville of the Philadelphia League at B and Cambria streets, Philadelphia, the first at one o'clock and the second at 3.30. Tuesday the "Farmers" will journey to Pleasantville, N. J., where they will meet the home club in a twilight game.

Wednesday, at Landreth Ball Park, the Black Meteors, Philadelphia, and Landreth's Seeds meet at 6.15 in a home game.

Two of our local butchers furnished quite a bit of excitement Wednesday afternoon for several hundred spectators when they settled a dispute with an old-fashioned slugging match at the rear of the Grand Theatre. . . . We wouldn't be knowing just how the fracas started . . . whether it was about how many cuts are in a side of beef or the tariff on putty . . . but the only way they seemed to be able to come to a conclusion was in the duke-slinging exhibition they put on for their friends.

Everybody around Mill street seemed to be in on the affair, including all the grocery clerks and butchers in town . . . for, when the boys went to work on each other, hundreds of spectators were on hand to cheer for their favorite. . . . The store boys found this a swell way to spend their Wednesday afternoon holiday.

When we see a box score of the Landreth Seed Company's ball club in the columns of our favorite paper we can't help but admire the Landreth brothers for the keen interest shown in the national pastime over a period of many years. . . . While looking through a scrap book kept by an old baseball favorite we found a number of interesting articles pertaining to baseball games played in the nineties between Landreth's and out-of-town clubs that should bring back sweet memories to many a grey head.

One game in particular played at Tullytown between that town's crack organization and the Seed Growers, in April, 1890, had many of our successful citizens in the line-up. . . . Here is the box score:

On September 5th next, the American Bowling Congress will celebrate their 40th anniversary. . . . At the time of their organization rules were formed to govern the playing of ten pins and settle disputes that developed through the poor decisions made by alley operators, who invariably favored their local patrons against visiting players. . . . This organization was also responsible for the cleaning out of a tough element who frequented such places.

Today, because of the foresight, good judgment and business ability of the founders of this institution and those who succeeded them, Bowling has become a game second to none in the point of order and uniformity. . . . The alleys are now frequented by business men, sports and fraternal organizations who take pride in telling of their achievements in bowling.

ST. ANN'S SNARES 4TH STRAIGHT VICTORY, 4-1

The St. Ann's A. A. baseball nine captured its ninth straight victory of the Bristol Twilight League last night on the Landreth ball field as it downed its old nemesis, Dave Ennis and the Hibernians, 4-1, in a well-played contest. The tilt eliminated the Hibs from the second half race and put the Saints one-half game behind the pace-setting Odd Fellows.

It was principally the two-hit hill work of Johnny Dick that gave the Wood streeters the triumph. Johnny was masterful throughout. The only damage off him took place in the second when Sullivan opened with a two-bagger and Zeffries followed with the same kind of a bludge but Dick braced and whiffed both Eastlack and McGinley and got Devlin on an easy roller to first. Through-out the remainder of the fray, the Hibs were held hitless and scoreless.

Dick had a scare in the fifth when he McDewittin again threatened. This time McGinley was passed and Devlin sacrificed him to second. Dick could not locate the plate and passed both Thompson and Ennis to load the sacks. Joe Roe's best was a fly to second while Clay went out on a lift a short.

Ennis was nipped for five hits by the winning combination. The Saints scored twice in the first, added another in the second and counted their fourth run of the tilt in the last half of the fifth. Ennis ran into plenty of trouble in the first. Sagolla was passed and Stallone and Whyne were easy outs. Roe errored on DeRis's grounder and Angelo was walked. Dick helped his own cause with a double to center, scoring two runs. Gaffney also was passed but DiTanna was a strikeout victim.

Passes to Stallone and Sagolla and a long hit by Whyne gave the Peacocks a run in the second, while the last one came in the fifth on consecutive hits by Whyne, Angelo and Dick. Dick was the leading hitter of the game which was played during a downfall of rain. "Punkie" Zeffries did some very nice fielding for the losers as Stallone did for the winners.

After the game a meeting was held and it was decided to play the Third Ward-St. Ann's postponed game on Landreth's field, Monday night. In the event of a St. Ann's victory, a tie for first place will be evident with the St. Ann's and the Odd Fellows meeting in a playoff tilt next Thursday night. The winner of this game will play the Hibernians for the championship.

Veterans in the Vanguard

By BURNLEY

Old-timers like Schmeling, Braddock and Sharkey are monopolizing the flatter spotlight, but boxing isn't the only sport in which ancient guys are showing signs of rejuvenation.

The well-known national pastime—I mean baseball—also has its gallivanting grandpops. It's in the air, and the old boys are all taking a new lease on life, for some reason or other.

Take Kiki Cuyler, for instance—a lot of big league pilots wish they could take him. This patriarch of the diamond has been knocking around the big tent for some fourteen Summers, man and boy, and was thought to have long since outlived his usefulness. However, Kiki refused to read his own baseball obituaries, and at present he is the spark plug of the Reds' "kid team," and is having a great season.

Then there's another relic—Goslin, the Goose that sails on forever, Detroit's venerable outfielder is making the pitchers quake as of old when he steps to the platter.

Jimmy Dykes, hustling boss of the peppery White Sox, is still just about as good a third sacker as you'll find around, even though he should be running the bases in a wheelchair at his age. And what about such hoary gents as Jess Haines, Bob Smith, and Ossie Bluege, who are still mighty spry for baseball greybeards?

Await Gov't Funds for Flood Control

Harrisburg, Aug. 15—Pennsylvania's water and power resources officials were in a position today to proceed with actual flood control work "just as quickly as the Federal government says the word, and promises the funds."

The announcement, confirming a story carried by International News Service last Wednesday, was made by Secretary of Forests and Waters, Frank Bogardus. But a few hours before, President Roosevelt had approved a $2,961,000 allotment for preliminary flood control projects in the western part of the state.

STATE NEWS

UNIONTOWN—(INS)—Two horses, harnessed to a hay wagon, were hanging here during the recent tornado like storm.

The owner, Frank Newcomer, had driven to the second floor of a barn with the load of hay when the storm broke in all its fury.

Hurriedly attempting to unload the grain, Newcomer was still on top of the wagon when the wind blew the large building from its foundation.

The horses hung suspended in mid-air as part of the second floor gave way under the force of the gale.

Although the farmer was able to leap to safety, the horses could not be moved. They slowly strangled to death from the harness.

SHARON — (INS) — A campaign for funds for the erection of a permanent memorial to the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Buhl, this district's greatest benefactors, has been launched by U. S. Senator James J. Davis, who started the ball rolling with a contribution of $1.

No subscriptions of more than $1 each will be accepted, and the fund is expected to be raised through voluntary contributions from Shenango Valley residents.

In addition, money for the monument will be sought from children, chief beneficiaries of the many Buhl gifts, by a campaign to be inaugurated in schools throughout the area when classes resume this fall.

"BARNUM WAS RIGHT"

The one and only P. T. Barnum is alleged to have said many things that never found their way into our copy-books . . . things to which few of us would wish to subscribe. But he uttered a profound truth when he said: "If you don't advertise your business, the sheriff will."

Firms which intend to stay in business, that is, firms which deal directly with the public, must advertise. By the same token, it is a sign that they mean to stay in business when they do advertise. For they are offering, through advertisements, the values in their stores.

You, the customer, will decide whether or not they ARE values. If they are not, it is "just too bad" for the firm that claimed they were. Don't you see, therefore, that no merchant can afford to misrepresent himself or his goods in print? Advertising merely magnifies a misrepresentation—brings the fatal day nearer.

Naturally, then, you can trust the advertisements in this paper. You can believe that the stores signing those advertisements want your trade, and are willing to earn it—with honest values and fair treatment. Read the advertisements. Patronize the advertisers. It is to your selfish interest to do so.
